“Ni Las Mujeres Ni La Tierra Somos Territorio de Conquista” by Yaneli Delgado, 2019

The second meeting of the Philosophies of Liberation Encuentro (PLE) seeks to build from the work of its inaugural meeting in Los Angeles in 2019. PLE takes as its point of reference the decolonization of our ways of understanding and being in the world. The Encuentro promotes theory and praxis aimed at overcoming the multiple hierarchies of domination and the ongoing destruction of the earth imposed by a ruthless instrumental rationality of interlocking systems of racial, gendered, colonialist, and capitalist oppression. The meeting is inspired by the work of philosophies and practices of liberation and decolonization across the globe. The gathering seeks to open up spaces for the work of intercultural dialogue, transmodern praxis, and liberatory thought that engages in critiques of prevailing systems of oppression, with a view toward affirming human life and the biosphere.
